John / Ted,

Attached is a Shift Briefing we will be issuing shortly instructing POEs in a few key alternate processing arrangements we have put in place as mitigation for the impact of the blockades.

Briefly, we are making allowances for pre-arrival information to be transmitted identifying more than one port of entry. This will allow importers to make last minute diversions, if their primary POE is blocked.

This was requested by s.37

s.37 As you know, they had also reached out to MINO earlier today.

In addition to the Shift Briefing, this will be sent out tonight to our BCCC group.

Starting tomorrow morning we are going to centralize tracking of any similar such requests that may come in so we can process quickly and consistently. This will also create a channel for any MP or Ministerial requests that come in and facilitate quick and thorough reporting on progress.

Should this situation continue for a few more days, we can expect requests for things such as duty relief to start arriving as well.

We will work with BTF so they are fully informed of these steps/decisions and so we can be aware of requests coming in to them. Shawn Hoag will be our lead and be available to any briefing meetings that may be required.

Fred
